

UNITED STATES SENATE.

Committee on the Mississippi River and its Tributaries.

Washington, D.C.,
May 13, 1921.

Most Reverend John Bonzano,
Apostolic Delegate,
1811 Biltmore Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C.

Dear Archbishop:

This will introduce Mr. Roberto H. Todd, a prominent citizen of San Juan, Porto Rico, who wishes to discuss with you a matter of extreme delicacy and importance to his people and to our Church. Mr. Todd has talked rather fully to me about the matter, and I advised him to confer with you as the one who of all others, is best qualified to assist him in promoting the very admirable object he has in view.

Mr. Todd is by ~~profession~~ profession a lawyer; was for years the Mayor of San Juan, and is now the Republican National Committeeman for Porto Rico. While I have only a slight acquaintance with him, he is vouched for by one of my very good friends, and I am sure is allright in every respect.

Hoping you will assist him Mr. Todd, and with the highest esteem, believe me

Very respectfully,

(Signed) Jos E. Ransdell.
